An illustration of a group of diverse children in a cave setting. In the foreground, a boy with glasses and a red shirt looks up with a surprised expression, his hands raised. Next to him, a boy with blonde hair holds a camera. In the center, a boy with red hair looks on with a concerned expression. To the right, a girl with orange hair and a girl with dark hair are also looking up. In the background, a boy with dark hair holds a flashlight. Several large, dark blue bats with spread wings are flying around the children. One bat is in the upper left corner, another is in the upper right, and a large one is in the center. The cave walls are orange and yellow, and the floor is white. The overall style is colorful and cartoonish.
